

Trevor Hoover – Biography

Born and raised in the Peace Country, Trevor attended the NAIT Architectural program in the late 80's and after graduating worked for a number of local Architects. This was during the downturn in the economy, so work was hard to come by. In 1994, projects started to develop when he joined the Habitat Studio team as a draftsman and he began working his way up to Senior Designer and eventually to one of the owners of the company today. His passion for design is at the forefront of every project working hand in hand with each client. In his spare time, he loves to mow and garden his yard, listen to music, golf, tinker in his garage, ride his motorcycles and spend time spoiling his grandchildren.
